Future challenges for CME/IME providers in the rapidly evolving CME environment

Diana van Brakel, Kenes Education, Amsterdam
Toby Borger, Springer Healthcare, London
• Diana van Brakel
  – Kenes Education: Manager Continuing Education
  – Kenes Group receives funding and sponsorship from pharmaceutical and medical device companies for medical education programmes

• Toby Borger
  – Springer Healthcare: Development Director, Independent Medical Education
  – Springer Healthcare receives funding from pharmaceutical companies for independent medical education programmes
• Discuss how CME/IME can be most effective and reinforce best clinical practice in the healthcare setting.

• Navigate challenges related to the complexities, variability, and change encountered in international CME/IME.

• Address the need for collaboration among CME/IME partners.

Your active participation is expected!
Who are the various stakeholders in CME/IME?

• What is the role of each stakeholder in order to create appropriate, effective, balanced and transparent medical education?
What are challenges when working on CME/IME in an International Environment?

How Can We Overcome the Challenges in CME/IME?
How Can CME/IME Be Most Effective and Reinforce Best Clinical Practice in the Healthcare Setting?
Following today’s session, what is the one thing that you will put into practice?

I Commit to...
THANK YOU

Diana van Brakel, Kenes Education, Amsterdam
Toby Borger, Springer Healthcare, London