

Author information
Title
Primary author, email
Primary author organisation
Co-author(s)
Co-author organisation(s)

Theme
<input type="checkbox"/> Techniques to Promote Change	The practicalities around developing educational activities, covering the basic concepts as well as offering guidance for the seasoned expert, from educational design, planning, outcomes evaluation and incorporating education in the professional setting.
<input type="checkbox"/> Management of CME Processes and Systems	How to manage, satisfy or incorporate the viewpoint, objectives and/or requirements of related groups to the CME process – such as patients, learners, accreditors, industry, government, regulators, etc.
<input type="checkbox"/> Tools and Engines	The practical side of CME: putting new and innovative ideas and techniques into practice. Whether new tools, best practice examples, new developments, innovations on the horizon, etc.

Abstract (max. 400 words)

Agreement and Signature

To be completed by the primary author:

- I believe that this abstract could also be of value as an oral presentation and am happy for it to be considered for this if suitable.
- As #11ECF will be certified for CME credit, if my abstract is accepted for oral presentation, I understand that I will need to complete the financial declaration and disclosure process.

By submitting this application, if accepted, I commit to attending #11ECF in London to present this poster and, if applicable, oral presentation.

Name (printed)
Signature (image)
Date

Deadline for submission: Monday, 1 October 2018

Applicants will be notified of decision by email on or before Monday, 8 October 2018

Send the completed form to Alison Copley, European CME Forum: acopley@CMEforum.org
Please write to Alison if you would like this form in Word format.