Please read the guidance on the Call for Abstracts here before completing this form. Please email us for a Word version of this document.

This year we break down our meeting theme of “Promoting a Culture of Learning” into Micro-Meso-Macro-practice as related to CME.

Theme
<input type="checkbox"/> Micro-practice	CME/medical education focussing on the needs and perspective of the learners on an individual level.
<input type="checkbox"/> Meso-practice	The objectives and considerations relating to the intermediate practical aspects, such as the intrinsic skills of organisations, working with partners, bringing together the interprofessional team, involving the patient voice, the role of the scientific societies, cross-border collaborations, organisational challenges, etc.
<input type="checkbox"/> Macro-practice	The broadest review of the CME community of practice, how we operate as an industry, the regulatory frameworks in place, accreditation systems, how we respond to public health priorities.

Abstract (max. 400 words)

- The poster/presentation can be developed into a short communication or longer paper for submission to JECME.

Agreement and signature

To be completed by the primary author:

- I believe that this abstract could also be of value as an oral presentation and am happy for it to be considered for this if suitable.
- As #12ECF will be certified for CME credit, if my abstract is accepted for oral presentation, I understand that I will need to complete the financial declaration and disclosure process.

By submitting this application, if accepted, I commit to attending #12ECF in Manchester to present this poster and, if applicable, oral presentation.
